Exterior, Interior and Natural Beauty

This "old world manor"-style home has a majestic and striking façade set against a natural and forestial setting. It features many different architectural elements, such as covered front and side porches, different roof lines and dormers. The color choices and materials used combine to make this home exceptionally beautiful, and it fits well in its unique, natural setting with Lemon Creek as its backdrop. Additional features include: high ceilings; a gourmet kitchen with adjacent hearth room; three fireplaces; Brazilian cherry hardwood floors; custom carpentry and moldings; and a two-story great room with a custom bar and wall of windows affording fabulous views. An office/study off the entry foyer allows the owners to work at home if desired. A grand curved staircase in the front foyer and a separate rear staircase off the mudroom provide easy access to the children's bedrooms. There are four bedroom suites, each with custom built-in desks for their computers and homework needs. In the basement, there is a gym with a steam shower and sauna, an indoor basketball court and an area for TV, video games and toys.
